Tokio, Aug. 21.—"We will be off from Kuremura Field for Los Angeles about Thursday morning."

As casually as if he were making it known that he was going from New York to Chicago or Los Angeles on San Francisco by train, Comdr. Hugo Eckener said this.

The Japanese government, the public and the press have all been extraordinarily enthusiastic, kind and courteous in their welcome to us. I especially want to express my thanks and appreciation to the splendid co-operation and facilities extended to us by the Japanese navy, without whose help we could not have landed here.

"I will, however, be glad to be on the bridge of the Graf in the air again for it is terribly hot here and we are not prepared for that."

The commander declared that he did not want to make any prediction as to when we will reach Los Angeles, but he said:

"If conditions are favorable we should be there in a few days. It is difficult to say, but I expect that we will first touch the American coast near Seattle, thus establishing the line between America and Asia."

"Should it be night or should there be heavy fog we shall probably first alight in America at San Francisco."

"Our course in all probability will be along the great circle route which will take us just south of the Aleutian Islands as our northernmost point. Obviously we want to reach Los Angeles for landing in the day."

Commodore Eckener said that he expects to be in Los Angeles for 36 to 48 hours depending on our arrival. He hopes that any reception and social functions will be compressed into one or two public affairs so that our crew and I will be given an opportunity to see something of the surrounding country.

"I have heard so much about Hollywood," he said, "and about the concentration there of the prettiest girls in the world, that I had better keep my crew away from there lest I lose them."

This speech was accompanied by one of the old commander's rare, broad smiles.

All the officers and members of the crew are looking forward with great anticipation to their visit to the city of angels, which has won a reputation for hospitality they have heard so much. Very sincere regrets are expressed that the stay is to be so short.

Dr. Eckener, his officers and the passengers were guests of the Japanese government at the Imperial Hotel. The function was arranged by Foreign Minister Shidehara, Minister of War Gen. Ugaki, Minister of the Navy Admiral Takamichi, and Minister of Communications Kikudani.

The American coast first at Seattle and will circle that city. If conditions are here, Dr. Eckener will go down the coast, touching the American coast first at Seattle and will circle that city.

Dr. Eckener further announced that the ship will follow the great circle steamship track. The Albatross Islands would be the northern point touched by the Zeppelin.

The Graf Zeppelin will remain in Los Angeles from 36 to 48 hours, depending on the time of arrival there, the commander said.

Dr. Eckener, his officers and crew and the Berlin-Tokyo passengers last night were guests of Foreign Minister Shidehara and other members of the cabinet at the Imperial Hotel. Covers were held for 70 guests, Lady Drummond Hay being the only woman among more than 60 men, and she was given an ovation as she rose to speak in her turn.

Sir Hubert Wilkins also made a brief speech, following Dr. Eckener's remarks, in which he expressed his confidence in the success of the expedition.

Prior to the Imperial Hotel dinner, Dr. Eckener called at the residence of Premier Taka Hamaguchi, and was graciously received.

"I am greatly pleased at the opportunity to see and meet the commander of the Graf Zeppelin," Premier said. "The whole world is paying attention to your globe-girdling trip. It is an admirable feat, and the Zeppelin is rendering an incalculable contribution to the development of international transportation."

The Premier's statement was relayed to Dr. Eckener through an official interpreter, and for several minutes the two conversed by this means.

Another reception to the visitors was followed by a dinner at the German embassy.

The Graf Zeppelin is the only thing in the minds of Tokio's residents today. The official newspaper is only minor compared to the news of the Zeppelin's progress in the city of the crown prince.

Dr. Eckener's arrival in Tokio was greeted with the greatest excitement ever greater than expected.

Newspaper coverage of the Zeppelin's flight and arrival and the official reception was unprecedented. The leading morning paper, the Asahi, published a special issue of type and several pages of photographs to the Zeppelin and Zeppelin news.

Minor engagements were reported today from Mukden and Hsinking, in the neighborhood of Lake Hanko, while it was said several fighting took place near Changhai on August 18 and 19.

Regret is expressed in the newspapers over the Zeppelin's early departure for Germany, which is said to be Dr. Eckener's desire to be on the way to his home as soon as possible, so as to complete the globe-girdling flight in a minimum of time.

The officers of the Graf's crew have been so absorbed with gifts they have to ship them home in crates by sea, that they have no room aboard the airliner for them.

Gifts are being carried on the streets. The Imperial Hotel, where the passengers are staying, is a constant battle with the luggage being carried out. A row in the neighborhood of Lake Hanko, while it was said several fighting took place near Changhai on August 18 and 19.

Tokio, Aug. 21.—The Graf Zeppelin has conquered Tokio. Tokio is Zeppelin mad. The friendly invasion of the dashing Zeppelin officers and crew won the imagination of the Japanese people.

There is not a thing they won't do for us. The Graf Zeppelin is the greatest "peace ship" ever launched. Japan is no longer a "land on the map" for those who have been here before. It is a dynamic of life, with activity and enterprise, nationally and individually.

Comdr. Eckener usually shy about receptions and functions has been quite won over by the irresistible crush of enthusiasm. He is enthusiastic. The heat of the excitement is only equalled by the climate here, which is in tremendous contrast with the bitter cold of Siberia, which is a matter of only a few hours' air.

STILL WAITING FOR "LUCKY"

By WON LUCKY BILL.

Two $20 winners and six $3 winners, but no sign of a mailman bringing in that $100 winner which I published in the Boston Evening American last Monday. That's the total of yesterday's business. The serial number of that $100 winner is 244000012, and I'll bet a dime against the hole in a doughnut that the mailman squandered that $100 winner without checking the serial number with the list of lucky bucks in the Boston Evening American.

If he has, it's just too bad for him, as someone else is going to make the $100 profit. I'm sure this old lucky buck is coming back home to roost very soon. So you keep a sharp eye for it.

The next class of folks I'm going to be good to are the firemen. I'm going to do better by them than I did for the letter carriers, but I expect them to do better by me than the letter carriers did. That is, I want them to get their share of the money I'm tossing away for those old $100 bills. I'll make a donation to the firemen in a day or so. Watch for it.

Joseph Kallman, of 225 Audubon rd., got lucky buck 770137521, one of the $20 winners, in change in a restaurant near Massachusetts ave. and Boylston.

William J. Hennessy, of 20 Prospect st., Cambridge, just got under the wire with lucky buck 318043341, another $20 winner. This lucky buck was to have been crossed off the list today, after one week, as being unclaimed. It was received in change at a gasoline station on Massachusetts ave.

WINNERS FROM LAWRENCE

Three lucky bucks arrived home from Lawrence yesterday.

Mrs. B. Budd, of 151 Arlington st., sent me lucky buck 244156601, a winner for $5.

H. King, of 11 Bradford st., Lawrence, sent in lucky buck 788787412, another $5 winner.

Albert E. Blood, of 16 Ames st., sent down lucky buck 222616732, a winner for $5.

WINNER IN PORTSMOUTH

WILLIAM M. McDONOUGH, of

Just in Time

William J. Hennessy of Prospect st., Cambridge, presented a lucky bill and collected $20, just before the bill was to be crossed off the list as unredeemed.

519 State st., Portsmouth, N. H., sent me lucky buck A17171421, a $5 winner.

DAVID SHEVOW, of 138 High st., Newburyport, brought in lucky buck 318043341, another $20 winner.

This lucky buck was to have been crossed off the list today, after one week, as being unclaimed.

DOROTHY HART, of 51 Pleasant st., Charlestown, received lucky buck 433522902 in change at a Charlestown grocery store. It was a winner for $5.

And so it goes. Every day someone is carrying off this easy money without a bit of effort. All you have to do is bring me the lucky bucks with the serial numbers listed in the Boston Evening American and I'll pay you either $20, $10 or $5 for each one of them.

Watch the list of numbers daily. There's 16 winners or $100 added to the list every day.

U.S. MAKES NEW MOVE FOR MANY PROBLEMS

Lossmouth, Aug. 21.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald revealed that Ambassador Davies made a special trip to Scotland for the purpose of discussing the message from Washington on the disarmament conversations which have been proceeding since the time the two governments.

"A world conference—a resumption of the Washington disarmament conference before 1931, the date now fixed for it—is at the back of our minds all the time," said MacDonald.

Referring to the Washington message which sent Ambassador Davies north to Scotland to confer with him, Prime Minister MacDonald said:

"As at the Geneva naval conference our task has been to reconcile three positions—American claims for parity, which we admit; British necessities which have no relation at all to American building, and the desire common to both governments, the reduction of armaments."

WOMAN FREED IN DRY DEATH

Detroit, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Maxine Heath, wife of John M. Heath, Detroit elevator mechanic, who is accused in connection with the death of Richard J. Sandfords, federal prohibition officer, was freed following her arraignment before J. Stanley Ward, United States commissioner.

The charge against Mrs. Heath was assault and resistance of a federal officer and use of a deadly weapon against a federal officer.

Standard's body was found floating on the Detroit river several days after he disappeared while starting Heath's cabin cruiser which had been seized for violation of navigation laws. An autopsy revealed that the prohibition officer died from a broken neck.

Red Cross Nurse Killed by Veteran

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Brooding over an imaginary wrong, David Lisaraga, 35, a shell-shocked war veteran, stabbed to death his benefactress, Miss Kate Ashman, 34, as she talked to him in front of the local office of the American Red Cross, of which she was executive secretary. Miss Ashman, a World War nurse, and Red Cross worker since 1918, died five minutes after her assassin struck.

Lisaraga has signed a confession admitting the killing.

GERMANY ASKS NEW TERMS OF ALIES

The Hague, Aug. 21.—Reparations experts today had a new problem on their hands when Germany requested a conference to determine what she must pay after September 1, if the Young plan is not accepted in the short time remaining.

It was considered that Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, had served notice on the creditor Powers that they had better come to a quick agreement because in any case the Reich would not pay more than the Young plan calls for.

Germany was supposed to make the last payment under the Dawes plan at the rate of $500,000 a year at the end of this month and to pay as the annual installment under the Young plan the lesser sum of $400,000.

Dr. Stresemann addressed his letter to Premier Jaspard of Belgium, and it was immediately accepted by the six chief creditor nations.

While thus brought to accept the six chief creditor nations, the delegates found some hope in the recently friendly meeting between British Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden and Premier Aristide Briand.

The communique issued after their tea at the quarters of Ambassador Adachi of Japan gave no indication of the result of the conversation, but from an authoritative source was learned that the French and British viewpoints were no longer regarded irreconcilable.

This was taken to mean that France was disposed to stretch a point in order to obtain settlement here, and was also disposed to use her influence with the other creditors, notably Italy.

At meeting today of the six creditor powers another attempt to bring about an agreement will be made. Failing in this an adjustment may be taken to Lausanne after the Assembly of the League of Nations.

Would-Be Suicide Drowns Accidentally

New Bedford, Aug. 21.—Miss Madeline Ives, 32, who a year ago attempted to commit suicide on the grave of her former employer, was accidentally drowned while bathing in the Acushnet river at Fairhaven.

The body was found by a fisherman near Palmer's Island and identified by Mrs. Samuel Smith, with whom the young woman lived or Homer st., this city.

She leaves an invalid mother.

MORTON NAMED FOR AUBURN POSITION

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 21—An announcement was made today by Roy H. Faulkner, vice president of Auburn, of the appointment of Wade Morton to the position of sales manager of the cord and drive division.

The new position has been newly created. Morton, one of the best known automotive men in the industry, has been con-connected with Auburn for three years in various capacities, latterly having been manager of contests, and under his supervision many of the records held by Auburn have been made.

Morton became associated with Auburn three years ago when plans for cord front drive

*Now all debate about
Gasoline Quality is settled*

It's Here Today Socony Special Plus Ethyl

TWO years ago we introduced Socony Special—a superior high-compression gasoline. Thousands of motorists discovered that it was far better than other gasolines, and gladly paid the extra cost.

The sales mounted. Perhaps we should have been satisfied, but we were not. We said: "Is there anything that we can possibly do to make Socony Special still better?"

There was one thing. We could add Ethyl fluid to it.

Ethyl fluid is an anti-knock preparation developed by General Motors. Even a poor gasoline can be given "zero knock-rating" if enough Ethyl fluid is added. But a poor gasoline with a zero knock-rating is still a poor gasoline.

Never in New York and New England has Ethyl fluid been added to a gasoline of Socony Special quality. We decided—at extra cost to ourselves, but no extra cost to you—to do what had never been done.

Today for the first time you can buy Socony Special plus Ethyl, at the same price that you have been paying for Socony Special alone. The gasoline debate is settled. We guarantee that in anti-knock quality, in smooth performance, in pick-up, in everything that you want in a gasoline, the new Socony Special (with Ethyl) is better than any gasoline you have ever used.

What ETHYL is

Ethyl fluid is the standard anti-knock compound, containing tetraethyl lead. It was developed in the General Motors Research Laboratories to meet the needs of the present-day high-compression motors.

Remember, it is the basic gasoline to which Ethyl fluid is added that determines the ultimate quality of an Ethyl gasoline. The Socony Special which you have been using was a superior high-compression gasoline. With the Ethyl fluid added, this new Socony Special will make old cars run like new cars, and will make new cars perform in a way that you have never known before.

Test It for Just One Week

We urge you not to lose a single day in trying this amazing new motor fuel. By all means give it a fair and honest trial. Make sure your tank is empty, or nearly empty, so that your motor will get the full benefit of this new Socony Special.

Use it for a week. Check your pick-up and power. Note the smooth operation and complete control. At the end of a week you'll be convinced. From then on, no other gasoline will ever do.

NEW HIGH RECORDS

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—The stock market opened with an impressive demonstration of strength today.

The first sale of Radio was a block of 15,000 shares at 92½, up 2. Commercial Solvents ran up five points to 305, Westinghouse Electric three to 230, and Commercial Investment Trusts 1¼ to 198½, all new high records.

Union Pacific opened 4½ points higher and initial gains of one to 2½ points were recorded by U. S. Steel common, Alcoa, Montgomery-Ward, General Electric, In-

Wall Street apparently was pleased with the results of the auction, with the ratio of stock exchanges member borrowings to listed share values rising from 1.13 to 1.19, or 1.87 per cent on August 1, when the ratio was 1.13. The auction raised $83,282,799.03. The announcement of the legal results of the insurance in force in the United States had reached the $100,000,000 mark, and the market was expected also to have a bullish bias.

Rails came to the fore in the early trading as a result of the unexpected results of the auction. A statement now being published in the Wall Street Journal and Pennsylvania all moved into high ground for the year. Penn's 1934 earnings rose 10.1%, its highest for all time. Columbia's gain for 1934, 10.1%, its highest gain of 7 points by 1934. The Wall Street Journal to 4% by touching 2004, both new high records. United Atlantic's 1934 earnings rose 10.1% advanced to 88. One block of 22,000 shares of the Wall Street Journal New Jersey changed hands at 70% of

Duke Power Soars to Above 300 on N. Y. Curb

New York, Aug. 21 (INS)—Curb Stocks were steady to firm during the morning trading session, although profit taking again tended to slow down progress especially among the power stocks.

That division was featured by a rise of 15 points in Duke Power, which soared from 285 to a new high record. On the other hand All-Ed Power lost a fraction, selling at 297 1/2, and other small recessions from early highs took place. International Superpower gave up early rise, retiring to an unchanged level. Electric Bond & Share was quiet.

With considerable loss of activity in Blue Chip, the common and preference stocks were admitted to trading. The common shares were sold off and immediately lost the fraction. After trading for a while, the preference issue fell off to 35%.

Wheat Breaks on Chicago Market

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Announcement of railroad embargoes against rice, oats and barley shipments to Japan and Duluth led to a sharp early break today in wheat values here. Weakness of wheat futures in Chicago extended also to pull Chicago price down to 104 1/2¢ at 4:10 to decline. Chicago futures then fell to 103 1/2¢, down grade. Corn and oats went lower with wheat. Corn started 1/2¢ off and oats 1/4¢. The market was going a general ang. Provisions were easy.

Quoted prices today:

FIGHT IN AUTO INSURANCE ZONES TO BE FAGED IN LEGISLATURE

HIT AS CLEAR BY CARROLL OF REVERE

Protest Against Proposed Rate Rise Gains Strength Throughout State

Legislative action on the proposed rate increase is being taken today following announcement of Rep. Thomas F. Carroll of Revere that he would file a bill calling for the abolition of the zone rating system of charges.

According to the legislator, his constituents claim that by the enactment of outside motorists coming to Revere, which city would be put in zone two under the proposed change, an increased hazard is created on the streets of that municipality especially during the summer months.

Representative Carroll says he does not believe it fair that Revere should be placed in zone two since many of the accidents there can be attributed to the negligence of motorists from other parts of the state.

Merion L. Brown, state insurance commissioner, declared that there was nothing new at present in so far as his office is concerned in the present controversy. Additional information reached him it is understood, from the Massachusetts automobile rating and accident prevention bureau in connection with the new higher rates sought. Commissioner Brown's own corps of inspectors is in "morning over" in its examination of records of the insurance companies necessary before the final rates are made known.

Mayor Ralph R. Bauer of Lynn, who has frankly stated his opposition to any increase in the rates, now comes forward to announce that a vigorous campaign will be conducted through investigation of the whole insurance game in Massachusetts in so far as it relates to automobiles, should be undertaken forthwith and with a view of taking this highly important liability out of the hands of private interests and operating it by the state.

A flat rate on automobile insurance throughout the state and installment payments on premiums, with discounts for persons with good experience ratings, constitute the main features of recommendations made to insurance commissioner Merion L. Brown by Harry V. Grandin of Winthrop, general insurance agent and broker.

In a letter to the commissioner, Grandin outlined his plan in eight recommendations which he asserted would eliminate many of the objectionable phases of the present system.

Three Revere men, one of them unable to swim, today rescued Arthur Dunn, 21, of Beverly Hills, from drowning in West Lynn harbor.

The rescuers were John Bell of Oak Island st., here of a frustrated Joliet, Ill., prison break three years ago; Vincent Cuda of North Shore st., and Mayor Cohen of Oak Island st.

They had been digging clams on the West Lynn flats, and when Dunn, handcuffed by rubber boots, lost his balance and fell into deep water.

The others turned back and Cuda dived in to aid Dunn. After an underwater struggle, in which the drowning man repeatedly broke Cuda's hold, the latter swam ashore with him.

HUMAN LIFE CHAIN

Bell, although unable to swim, refused to permit Dunn to drown. With Cohen holding his legs and Cuda holding Cohen's legs, Bell supported the chain, and managed to get a grip on Dunn, who was nearly unconscious.

The three then hauled him on to the flats, and applied first aid, after which they sent Dunn to Lynn hospital, where he was treated for immersion.

His rescuers, covered with mud, were nearly exhausted by their efforts, were not molested by the game wardens, and went home for baths and clean clothing.

SALES OF RAZOR BLADES PROBLEM SHARP

First Three Advanced in the Great Contest Reveal Keen-Edged Minds

What do you do with your used safety razor blades?

Monday's article on the problem of disposing of used blades brought immediate reaction from the big and little shavers of Greater Boston.

Three claimants to first prize of a set of false whiskers for the best solution of the used blade problem read in their letters. Here they are:

SOME SOLUTION.

Blade Editor, Boston American: Long, long ago—being possessed of a very tough head—I recognized the difficulties of disposing of used safety razor blades, and I think I have hit upon the solution of the problem.

I hired a safety deposit vault in a trust company in Boston and there deposited my used blades. I filled one vault and have started on another.

Of course, you can hire as many vaults as necessary and you may have no fear that they will ever be disturbed. If the upper part of a vault gets beyond your income all you have to do is drop out of sight and the bank decides what to do with your blades.

TELLS ONLY HALF OF IT

Made Editor, Boston American: That problem of the razor blades I have solved temporarily at least. I have a workshop in my barn and in the workshop I have a stack of old blades that will knock your eye out.

The overflow is located in a large box in the bathroom and in a desk drawer that is nearly full.

Now the blades come in very handy in the workshop. As fast as I take one out of the desk to replace it and I replace that taken from the desk with one from the bathroom. Of course, the one taken from the bathroom pile is replaced by an old one from my razor.

HE SOLVES IT

Editor, Boston American: You printed an article about used safety razor blades. The problem does not bother me in the least. I don't have to go snoring around with a bundle of used blades like a thief in the night, hoping to hide them somewhere before I'm discovered. I use an old-fashioned razor and will never use any more.

Three Revere men, one of them unable to swim, today rescued Arthur Dunn, 21, of Beverly Hills, from drowning in West Lynn harbor.

The rescuers were John Bell of Oak Island st., here of a frustrated Joliet, Ill., prison break three years ago; Vincent Cuda of North Shore st., and Mayor Cohen of Oak Island st.

They had been digging clams on the West Lynn flats, and when Dunn, handcuffed by rubber boots, lost his balance and fell into deep water.

The others turned back and Cuda dived in to aid Dunn. After an underwater struggle, in which the drowning man repeatedly broke Cuda's hold, the latter swam ashore with him.

HUMAN LIFE CHAIN

Bell, although unable to swim, refused to permit Dunn to drown. With Cohen holding his legs and Cuda holding Cohen's legs, Bell supported the chain, and managed to get a grip on Dunn, who was nearly unconscious.

The three then hauled him on to the flats, and applied first aid, after which they sent Dunn to Lynn hospital, where he was treated for immersion.

His rescuers, covered with mud, were nearly exhausted by their efforts, were not molested by the game wardens, and went home for baths and clean clothing.

HIS AIM FOOLS TRIO

Three years ago, when Bell was with a circus, he was in Joliet with a circus, he was in Joliet with a circus, he was in Joliet with a circus.

STOMACH TROUBLE?

"DIASTATIC DEFICIENCY" AND "TOO MUCH ACID" CAUSE 9 OUT OF EVERY 10 ATTACKS

"DIASTATIC DEFICIENCY" (failure to digest starch, causes more than one-half the cases of stomach trouble. Because of the deficiency, poisons, from malnutrition, indigestion, excess and other causes, build up in the system, causing acid, flatulence, heartburn, etc., and other stomach troubles.)

"TOO MUCH ACID" is the cause of almost all the remaining half of our stomach trouble. It is also the result of fermentation and excess digestive activity.

ACIDITY, the true cause, is a permanent condition, and cannot be cured by any known stomach remedy, one point of which will digest more than 1000 grains of starch food.

NICK FLATLEY

Alex Is Punished
No Sentiment There
Baseball Hard-Boiled

Different in Old Days
Bentazolo May Quit
No Catastrophe, That

OLD ALEX BREAKS RECORD, AND TRAINING, TOO

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER, after cracking the National League pitching record, in sent home in disgrace. Somehow, that doesn't seem right at all. We admit that laws should be obeyed, and rules lived up to, and so on. But anybody with any heart and sentiment realizes that there are spots where exceptions are permissible. Baseball is losing what few remaining vestiges of sentiment it has. That should worry the magnates much more than the growth of golf, and the radio, and similar, lesser, possible drawbacks. Once sentiment is dead, interest ceases.

The so-called national pastime is hard boiled these days, more hard boiled in St. Louis than anywhere else. This move on the part of the Cardinal club will hurt the game everywhere.

Nick Flatley has been pitching for 16 years. He won a world series for the Cards three years ago. He cracked Matty's record the other day. The big boy has been shooting at that record for two years now. He wanted to retire with a new mark, and he knew his great arm was failing.

Small wonder he was ready to celebrate when he grabbed the game that put him in the books for all time. No more pitchers come along who can stick in there long enough to come close to the records that Matty and Alex have set up in the National League. Not to mention the figures rolled up by Cy Young, who went past the 500 mark in games won, and Walter Johnson, who collected 400 plus in the A. L.

The Card management might have let Alex vacation for a couple of weeks. That would have won general applause. They system will bring a universal boo. But, as we remarked somewhere above, baseball is hard boiled now.

Times Have Changed

It was not always thus. Heroes in the old days had their fun. They were always violating laws, and smart owners and managers used to laugh it off. Some of them, in fact, used to encourage the carousing habit every so often for their stars.

Connie Mack kept Rube Waddell happy by giving him part of his pay in money, so that he could buy plenty of beer that way. He also used to let the Rube have a day off now and then to act as bartender for the fans in the place across from the old Athletic ball yard.

Bugs Raymond, a great pitcher, had a habit of rushing out of the ball park between innings when he was chucking, and inhaling a couple of mustys. Scouts were sent after him, to see that he didn't linger too long. Occasionally Bugs refused to return to a ball game, but that was all put down to eccentricity.

The old timers had a better angle on psychology. Because they had more interest in the game itself. George Stallings was inclined to send his whole team off to cut loose and break training whenever they went into bad slumps. That was why, probably, the players called him the Miracle Man.

Most of the owners nowadays are business men. They make no allowance for personalities, or peculiarities. More efficient, perhaps, but not so popular.

Piped Around the Village

Bill Hamilton chugging off to live the life of a country squire for a few weeks—Phil Schlossberg weeping because Schaefer didn't get that crack at Bertazzolo—Dan Carroll going back into retirement to rest up the foot—Doc Kendall waiting for the Congressional Medal award for turning in his last golf score—Judge Fuchs wishing Maloney played on his baseball team—Harold Piers, of the University Club wondering where the 15-year-old cadette got that golf swing—Park Commissioner Long tiring silverware for the Franklin Park scrub team—Bob Quinn, smiling at last, as reports trickle in from the West.

They Talked a Great Fight

Riccardo Bertazzolo, hailed as a second Firpo or somebody, assimilated a beautiful sheikering at the Wigwam. Jamey Maloney splattered gloves over Riccardo's rugged map in each of the ten rounds. The big Italian will have to lather his spaghetti tomorrow with a straw for a couple of weeks.

But Riccardo suffered as much in his corner. He had three or four seconds and assistants jabbering at him, while he was supposed to be resting. He was patted more than a new billboard, and he needed that rest, but he had to listen.

Decision on Amateur Golf Expenses Expected Soon

M. G. M. HOWARD

OFFICIAL ROLLS

By BILL GRIMES

WITHIN a few days the Massachusetts Golf Association expects to hear officially from the United States Golf Association pertaining to the action the parent body will take if the local association insists upon paying expenses of players competing in interstate and Leaky cup matches.

Herbert Jacques, the New England representative of the U. S. G. A. executive committee, announced last week after a telephone conversation with Secretary Herbert M. Ramsey, that players accounting expense money from the M. G. A. would be professionalized.

As this edit did not come from the U. S. G. A. executive committee as a body but from Secretary Ramsey, the M. G. A. is not satisfied that it expresses the views of the parent body.

According to one of its highest officials, the M. G. A. is fighting for a principle. According to the official, the U. S. G. A. is fighting for a principle. It pays the expenses of Walker Cup teams to England and offers an excuse that these matches are of great importance and also international.

Then, the U. S. G. A. has sanctioned the paying expenses to golfers who participate in public links championship. Also, they have never attempted to place a ban on college golfers for accepting expense money from their respective institutions.

COLLEGE TEAMS REBEL

A few years ago W. C. Fennell informed the athletic councils of some of the eastern colleges that paying expenses of golfers was in direct violation of the amateur rule according to U. S. G. A. standards.

But the colleges refused to adhere to the U. S. G. A. rules and informed Mr. Fennell that they were perfectly capable of handling all questions concerning golf. No further protest was heard from the U. S. G. A. and all college teams are still receiving expenses.

From a sectional viewpoint, the M. G. A. regards the Leaky Cup and Interstate matches equally as important as those for the Walker Cup and therefore is at a loss as to why one team is allowed to receive expenses and the other required to foot their own.

Granted that players contesting for public links championship may not be as well supplied with worldly goods as private club golfers, there is no rhyme or reason for exceptions being made.

RULE SHOULD APPLY TO ALL

If the accepting of expense money is a violation of the amateur rule, then the members of the Walker Cup team, public links representatives and all college players are professionalized.

Should be declared barred from the amateur ranks. But, if there is one single exception, there can be no other. If there is one exception, there can be no other.

Under the system which the M. G. A. is attempting to promote, the players will be open to far less criticism than they are under the current conditions. If the truth were known, few amateurs play their own expenses to championship or big tournaments.

In fact, in the presence of W. C. Fennell, who at the time was president of the U. S. G. A., a player who had just won the United States amateur championship bragged of the fact that he never had paid his own expenses. President Fennell cried: "I did not hear what you said," and let it go at that.

And the referred to player is not the only star who has traveled around the country as the guest of some well-wisher. The main trouble with individuals paying expenses for their favorites is that most of them then the player received, say $500 for a $200 expense.

Although there are exceptions, a great many of the so-called public links players are really gamblers who are willing to invest expense money for the opportunity of making a big win in some pool.

PROBLEM NEVER SETTLED

A year ago during the national championship at Brae Burn, Harold W. Pierce, then president of the M. G. A., took the matter of expenses up with the executive committee and was later informed that the parent body was unanimously against such tactics.

As this committee is practically the same as rendered a decision last fall, there is every reason to believe that it still objects. If such is the case, and the M. G. A. insists upon going through with its decision, what redress can players have if they are barred from amateur golf? Possibly the players will refuse to back up the M. G. A. and will rather play in some other tournament. In case the U. S. G. A. wins its point, it is doubtful if leading players will risk exposure for the sake of representing the state in the Leaky Cup matches.

THESE CADDIES GIVE JONES AND HAGEN ONLY A FEW MORE YEARS

Smollett found a good back-ground for figuring out his score in the caddy championship at The Country Club yesterday in Mario Serafin. Both boys are from Stony Brook.

MR. BOSTON dodged a million or so free ticket bounds as he stepped in off a free escape into the sporting department.

Once thought a sheriff was the most persistent bird in the world," said the veteran, "but I couldn't finish within the money in a contest with those young men who are collecting Annie Oakley."

A young man with a fine fan was waiting to help Mr. Boston.

"Just wanted to find out how you have enjoyed the summer," said the youth who happened to be Charley Parker, South End boxer.

"And you don't want a ticket for the fight?" asked Mr. Boston.

"Eddie Mack has given me a couple of postcards," said the youth.

"I just returned from New Hampshire where I spent the summer. I have built up and eager to get into action again."

"How much do you want?" asked Mr. Boston.

"Between 125 and 135 pounds," said Mr. Boston.

"Right now I'll go 140 pounds," said Mr. Boston.

"I cannot fight a featherweight any more. I'm going after some of the lightweights."

Parker spoke cheerfully of his escape with Mr. Boston, Jack Zeman, Frankie Moore and some of the other ring heroes.

"I look for Parker to get up front in the little parade," said Mr. Boston.

Had gone his way. The youngster has a punch, plenty of aggressiveness and a heart as big as a mountain.

Stanley Neptune, one of the seekers after the caddy championship, shone bright, but not enough to win. Stanley was one of the low scorers with an 81.

Notes on Golf and Golfers

Philip Bailey, of Worcester, has been named as the caddy champion for the year 1923.

Little Tommy Quinn, who played remarkable golf in the caddy championships at The Country Club, is bound to find the name Quinn emblazoned on its pages.

Any player who wins the caddy championship will receive a prize of $100.

Stanley Neptune, one of the seekers after the caddy championship, shone bright, but not enough to win.

Zeramy to Meet Flowers at Wigwam

After no less than a dozen of the reigning lightweight of the day refused to step into the ring with Jack Zeramy, Lynn schoolboy, offering the services of a new contender.

"The King then bowed into the gym, but declared he could not fight as they were building a tunnel box as they were building a tunnel box."

Schmeling to Sail for Home Saturday

New York, Aug. 21.—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, will sail on the liner Albert Ballin for Germany Saturday.

Schmeling had a big day with the win, getting a triple and a home run.

Don Desovich, St. Louis manager, broke up the game with Portland in the ninth inning when he staged bringing in the tying and winning runs.

The Lynn club will unfurl the 1923 championship banner at the stadium today, with Frank Allen, a native of Lynn, officiating at the ceremony.

Stribling Signs For Schmelling Go

Brooklyn took both ends of a doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning the first 6 to 3 and the second 4 to 1.

Owen Murphy cracked out two home runs in each game by defeating the Asheville, N. C., representative, 6 to 4, at the Clark Griffith stadium.

Baiger, recently signed up by the Pittsburgh club, pitched both games.

Maloney Beats Bertazzolo Before 31,000 Fans

SHAMUS STOPS ITALIAN OFFENSIVE

By RINGSIDE
JIM MALONEY turned in one of the best fights of his career as he defeated the cardo Bertazzolo by a wide margin in their 10-round bout before 31,000 fans at Braves Field.

Maloney carried every round. His superior boxing ability and sharp, clean punching kept him out front at all stages of the contest.

Only once did Bertazzolo threaten to halt Maloney's surge. That was in the sixth frame when he rubbed Shamus back with the ropes under a shower of heavy punches. One of his left hooks caught Maloney on the chin. The South Boston heavyweight stopped in his tracks for a second, but came back fighting Shamus finished the round strong and had slight margin.

Eddie Mack of the Boston Garden announced that this receipt was close to $60,000 which set a new record for a boxing bout. Maloney started fighting at a lively clip in the opening round. He was particularly effective in close quarters where he countered perfectly with short right hand jabs to the chin. Late in the round he hit Bertazzolo with a terrific right hand wallop to the jaw. The punch was wild, but Shamus then connected with a left hook to the jaw.

Bertazzolo kept pressing forward in the second frame and didn't seem to worry a great deal about the barrage of punches let loose by Maloney. The South Boston warrior opened up and landed with accurate and powerful right handers to the whiskey. Riccardo hammered away to the body when at close quarters. At long range his judgment of distance was poor.

Maloney continued his heavy canning in the third and fourth rounds. Riccardo was unable to compete with Shamus in the exchange of blows and attempted to come to comedy to upset his rival. He made faces and stuck out his tongue.

When Bertazzolo resumed his tactics in the fifth frame, he was warned by Referee Joe O'Connor who told him to fight.

Bertazzolo then made the sport in the sixth round which caused the Maloney followers to worry about Jim's chances. For a time it looked as though the Italian might crash through with more when the going sounded for the end of the round.

FROM the sixth round on it was Maloney's fight. In the last two sessions, Shamus opened up and clouted Bertazzolo with some healthy right hand wallop. The Italian proved he is a wonder at absorbing punishment.

After the bout, Bertazzolo declared he injured his right arm. The third frame. He was later examined by one of the boxing commission's doctors and it was found he had fractured his left thumb. This injury will keep the Italian on the inactive list for two months.

FRANKIE MOORE of Medford was awarded the decision over Benny (Kid) Carter in the ten-round semifinal. It was a hard, fast fight with the milling very even. Moore's aggressiveness tipped the scales in his favor.

Vittorio Lione, middleweight champion of Italy, was defeated by Smoot of South Boston in a six-round bout. Louis Nemes of Tallahas won on a 10-10 tie in two rounds from Al Delgado of this city.

Danny Reagan of Gardner outpointed Jim Griffin of Cambridge in four frames. Big Boy Burlap outpunched Mike Shaheen in four frames.

Nat Kowler of New York won the decision over Johnny Carter of Lawrence after six rounds of action.

W. McDermott and John Gleason were the judges. Referee Jerry Moore refereed the prelims. Gene Durgin was timekeeper.

Gagnon to Coach at Catholic Univ.
Worcester, Aug. 21.—(By AP.)—Former star at Holy Cross College, will act as head baseball coach and assistant football coach at the Catholic university in Washington, according to an announcement made by John McCallister, director of athletics at the university. Gagnon will begin his new duties at the university next month. Gagnon was signed to play baseball with Detroit after his graduation, but was traded to Washington. He was forced, by an old football injury, to retire from the game after two years with Washington.

There was no knockout in the Maloney-Bertazzolo bout at Braves Field, but Maloney won all the way. The above photo shows Bertazzolo being stopped short by Maloney in the fourth round. Bertazzolo is expected to retire to less dangerous occupations after his showing last night.

CLIPPING PHOTOGRAPHS -- By Beatrice Fairfax

Noted Expert in Problems of Love Views Album

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

HAVE you ever looked over a wedding photograph in an old-fashioned album?

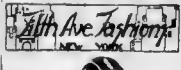

About a year ago I happened to be turning the pages of an album that went far enough back to include a number of old-fashioned tin-type and daguerotypes as well as family photographs. To start the album was a great joke. "Mother at 18," she smiled, holding up a portrait of a young girl who was pretty and charming despite her high, tight collar and balloon sleeves.

"Daddy and Mother at the time they were married," she added, as she turned the page. Then, laughingly, "Now, honestly, we know Daddy's dead, and everything has turned out as happily as can be, but can you imagine what Mother saw in him to fall romantically in love with at 20?"

I looked at the wedding photograph she was holding up to the light of a bride in a long white gown and veil, with lace-trimmed sleeves and a wisp of hair. At her side stood a young man, a picture of dapperness in a tuxedo suit. He was as fashionable in his day, with a gaze straight ahead with the ease and relaxation of a ship's officer trying to pierce a thick fog with his vision.

But I could see Betty was staring at the photograph closely. Was she comparing it with two young men who happened to be passing her most devoted attention at the time? Was she wondering whether her handsome, happy-go-lucky Tom, with his cheek manner, easy dancing and general air of being a favorite, was quiet, dependable, plain Rob who did measure up with her beloved Dad at the same age?

At my side, today, a year later, Betty is married to a man no more likely to appear in a photograph than her own Dad in his wedding photograph and of fully as fine a character, and she is very happy indeed. Thank you, Success! Romance has to do with spirit, with the heart, with that handsome appearance of youth, with the tender and romantic affection if you look at your wedding photograph and his. You would not let the bustle and bustle of living crowd out all the glamour of your courtship? Do you ever try to be charming to him in the same way that you were to him? It is in these days of your betrothal that you would not mind being a little bit of a coquette. Let him see you looking slowly at him, and he will be sure to be a little more attentive. Romance still exists, and the thrill of tender affection may still be brought back to your home life.

Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Now Summer's day has reached its flood.

No longer as in Spring

The timid growth of peering bud

The stir of fledging wing.

Bud grew to bloom, and blossoms now

To easy fruit give place.

Low droops each heavy-weighted bough

In every garden-space.

Where once the waves of wheat

Shone green.

As far as eye could see

Low drooping grain ripe and gleam

A widespread, golden sea.

On all the land a bush descends

From the top of hill and dale

To give the heart time of full end.

For dreams are in the haze of gold

And dream-sweet, drowsy hours unfold.

The Secret of Beauty

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Beauty shops are the most fascinating, mysterious places in the world. If Ponce de Leon were alive today he wouldn't have to start a world search for the Fountain of Youth. All he'd have to do would be to walk down any street in the world, enter a beauty shop, and be transformed into a young man. He would be folded before his wondering eyes.

But I wonder how many of the girls and women who depend only on the beauty experts to keep their loveliness ever so plump that the realist, truest beauty of all land that which covers the surface? If they'd only cultivate a beauty of heart and soul and mind, it would show so plainly on their faces and in their conversation and shine through their eyes that they'd never need any beauty trappings.

Cultivate the inner. That's the outer is what you have inherited and doesn't always last. Beauty of face fades, but beauty of soul lasts.

Wonderful music, poetry, the beauties of nature, the charm of a child—these would impress themselves on the inner self, then there would result the truest beauty of all. I've seen the plainest-looking women in the world who was a ravishing beauty—simply because she cultivated her soul, and its beauty shone forth for all to see and admire and they forgot her plain features.

Dr. Black's Daily Health Hint

N't trying artificial respiration for a drowned person one must not give up too soon. It is always best to ask one or two persons to aid, each taking turns for about twenty minutes.

It is generally a long tedious process, but is often successful after hope of success is nearly to be abandoned.

NEW VIEWS OF MODERN HOMES

English Cottage, Costing $8,500

By BETTY BONNELL

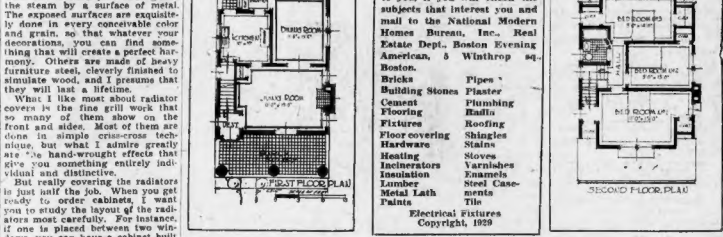

"GODNESS," said a young housewife at bridge the other day, "there are so many different kinds of radiators covers that I simply can't make up my mind which to select."

True, there are many but certainly the variety is no greater than anything I have seen in a furniture store. It is a great fun looking at them and if you are a bit careful, I know you will get something most pleasing and delightful to the eye.

I've noted a good many in wood with the interior protected against a steam by a piece of metal. The exposed surfaces are exquisite in design, and the work is done in every corner of the house and in grain, so that whatever you see is a simple, pleasing technique, but what I admire greatly is the way in which the covers are given something entirely individual and distinctive.

Just really covering the radiators is just half the job. When you get ready to order cabinets, E. I want you to study the layout of the radiators in your house. If one is placed between two windows, you can have a cabinet built to cover the radiator and the window seat where a tapestry cover and soft cushions will create a beautiful effect.

Another good position is often idea for a bookcase. The cabinet can thus be extended on both sides to serve as a bookcase. In several rows of books. If you have a radiator in a corner, you can build a small console table supporting a flower vase. There are really endless things that can be done with radiators. The covers for your rooms lead to a harmonious blending of colors.

ENGLISH-TYPE COTTAGE SPLENDIDLY PLANNED

By National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc.

HERE we have a simple English type cottage, A-94, that is charming. The architect shows what can be done with simple materials, good taste and experienced designing.

The sturdy columns that support the roof, the plain stone walls and brick chimney all express refinement and sincerity. There is no pretension or claim for display in this house, all is in the very best of taste.

The house measures 21 feet across the front, and allowing five feet clear space on one side and 10 feet clear on the other side of the house for a driveway, a lot with a frontage of 38 feet is required.

The foundation is of concrete. Upper walls are frame construction with stucco finish. Roof is of wood shingles.

A cellar extends under the entire house and provides the laundry, space for heater, coal bin and such.

A generous attic is provided.

Windows are of the casement type.

From the broad front porch one enters a small vestibule from which the stairway leads to the second floor.

The living room has a large open fireplace.

Three bedrooms, a bath and numerous closets complete the second floor.

Cost about $8500.

COMPLETE working plans and specifications of the house illustrated above may be obtained for a nominal cost from the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc. Any technical questions regarding this house will be answered without cost or obligation. Address the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc., Real Estate Dept., Boston Evening American, 5 Westrup St., Boston. Refer to House A-94.

OFFICE SPACE IN LEASES

Trustees have leased a suite of offices on the seventh floor of the building at the Wollaston Block, at Beale and Hancock sts., Wollaston, which were previously occupied by an L-shaped store. Occupancy will be about the summer of 1921.

Another lease in use and inventory was granted by W. W. Willson, Inc., to the Quincy Trust Co. and involves five stories and 9000 sq. ft. of land, located north of the Wollaston location. The property is to be used as a branch bank.

The Walton Lunch Co. has leased office space on the second floor at 245-247 Tremont st. to Leo Felt, Inc., music publisher.
